The Catholics Have their Hands Full in Canada.

Church and State. QUEBEC, April 6 .- Canada may have on her hands a big religious fight as well as a political one over the Manitoba school act which was recently adopted by the Legislature there, and which prohibits religious instruction in the public schools of Manitoba. The entire Roman Catholic hierarchy have entered upon a war again st it, and in all their churches yesterday a joint mandment was signed by them and read. The hierarchy insists that the government of Canada must dian Catholics into an almost compact testified that they made up after the Catholic members of the new Parlia- than a difference in account. ment are largely influenced by the mandment, and in view of a reduced majority for the government at Ottawa, the situation in which Sir John will find himself cannot fall to be critical, for it will become a question of expediency. While the people of Manitoba claim the right to manage their own affairs, and protestant electors as a rule throughout Canada take the same stand, and while the Roman Catholic Church holds, on the other hand, that the act is in violation of the vested and sacred rights, Sir John will decide upon the course that will expose to him the least possible loss of support. Sir John's friends here think he may evade the question by referring the constitutionality of the act to the Supreme Court.

All Quiet in the Coke Region.

MOUNT PLEASANT (Pa.), April 6 .-Quiet prevails in the coke regions today. There has been no disturbance the coke works since the riot commenced was made this morning. Four hundred men are at work, the majority of them being old employes. They were not interfered with in any way while going to work.

Sheriff Clawson came over from Greenburg this morning with warrants for twenty-five of the rioters, and Superintendent Morris Ramsey has sworn out warrants for the arrest of fifteen additional Italians. 1 These warrants were placed in the bands of constables, and it is expected that before midnight at least thirty of the rioters will be in jail.

Secretary Proctor.

By Associated Press. WASHINGTON, April 6 .- No one at the war department knows of any telegram having been sent to Secretary Proctor, requesting his return. The Secretary telegraphed last Friday that he would leave San Francisco, and reach Washington Monday. He carried out the principal part of his program in visiting military posts south on the Pacific coast and if he decided to curtail his trip it was probably because he wished to see the President before the latter leaves Washington on his western tour.

She was off Goat Island when the shaft broke and the weather was rough, and the seas rolling high. She off and towed her into her slip where she now lies awaiting repairs.

The lvett Murder Trial.

MERCED (Cal.), April 6.-The Olsen murder trial was resumed this morning. Charles Wench testified that he had lived on the Ivett ranch since 1856; was at the ranch Saturday and Sunday previous to the murder and saw Ivett and Olsen.

On cross examination the defense brought out the name of Wesley Logan, now deceased, and asked him did Ivett and Logan ever quarrel.

Wench replied: "A little difficulty, but not much. I think Logan burned a barn to get even."

The witness was then closely questioned in regard to Logan, and it was veto the act and the result of the thought the defense would try to lay mandment must be to form the Cana- the murder on Logan, but Wench body to support this course. The difficulty, which was nothing more Notable in Washington.

By Associated Press.] Washington, April 6 .- Accompanied by Sir Julian Poncefote, the Canadian officials called upon Secretary Blaine at his home, just before noon. Their stay was but a few minutes and they returned to their hotel. They signified his desire to be present at the conference, and as his coming trip west would interfere in that, it was thought best to postpone negotiations until such time as the President could give the matter his attention. Messrs. Foster and Thompson will leave Washington this afternoon for Ottawa and Tupper will go to London. He to return to Washington, which will be as soon as the President can conveniently give his attention to the negotiations.

Public Meetings.

All that was accomplished at the public meeting Saturday night was to engender hard teclings. We think if the better element in society can get together once in a while and discuss questions of interest to the public weal it has a tendency to make every one take an interest in governmental affairs, and enlighten the taxpayer, stimulate the county officers to do their level best in the management of public offices, and acts as a check on every one in any way connected with the same. Before our government agrees to pay an indemnity for the assassins lynched at New Orleans, there are two points that ought to be settled-first, how much they are worth, and second, how much Italy owes us for sending them here. After experiments by Prof. Hill, of he United States torpedo station, guncotton was adopted as an explosive for use in the navy in 1884. In preparing it for this service the gun-cotton is by successive pressings in hydraulic presses, the last of which has a pressure of six thousand eight hundred pounds to the square inch, made into little blocks measuring two and onehalf inches each way. It now contains Lucky for the Mice A traveler mentions that, in crossing a plain in Africa, far distant from any ream of water, where no cool shade refreshed him, and as far as the eye could reach, nothing could be seen but heaps of sand, he met with many creeping plants of luxurious vegetation. They were covered with large berries, each berry containing nearly as much as three teaspoonfuls of water. On inspecting them more closely, he was astonished and delighted to observe a number of mice, the only inhabitants of that inhospitable spot, busily employed in nibbling off the berries and carrying them to their homes, as seamen would carry casks of water to ships.—Detroit Free Press.

OPERA HOUSE DRY GOODS STORE .- C. W. BOOTON.

To the Business Men and Citizens of the State of Nevada:

The time has come when I am compelled to plead my own cause in this boycotting business. First, I will acknowledge that I signed the first contract to close at 8 o'clock, also that I did all I could to carry it out and help the League, but as it has been my misfortune to have reverses in business, and as I was compelled to raise money for parties that I owe, I went to the Clerk's League at a meeting on two different occasions, and told them it would be impossible for me to close at 8 o'clock.

Now, when the League says that I, on different occasions violated my pledge, all I can say and can prove, and that by Mr. Al Wilson, who is a member of the League, that it is FALSE, as Mr. Wilson has been in my employ since the contract was signed,

So far as my word is concerned, it is for the people to say, and not for the League to publish such trash to the entire State. I will further state that when the time comes that a few boys try to pull down and degrade a man when he has the misfortune that I have had, then it is high time to sell out and let the boys run the town.

Respectfully,

C. W. BOOTON.

Mr. Manning should be willing to contribute $100 towards fixing it up, and Mr. Foley, who owns lots on the south side and intends building there in the near future, should be willing to contribute liberally, and the Gazerre does not doubt but what Mr. Newlands and Mr. Thompson will hand the Commissioners a check for $250 or $500 apiece to go towards beautifying the property. Opposed to Electrocution.

The following from the New York Journal shows the spirit it which a distinguished gentleman appeared before the Grand Jury to answer the charge preferred against him in the fore the Grand Jury to answer the charge preferred against hine in the Harlem tunnel disaster: Dr. Cauncey M. Depew, accompanied by William D. Bishop and William D. Bishop, Jr., put in an early appearance. "Our Chauncey" was as jovial as ever. He said that he had no idea that the charge was serious, but at resent he was strongly opposed to execution by electricity. He was prepared to meet anything that might turn up, however.

SATURDAY NIGHT'S MEETING.

Everybody Has Their Growl and All Go Home Happy. Saturday night's meeting at the Courthouse was not all that could have been desired, and still all present who wanted to had their growl. The meeting was called to order by Geo. W. Baker, and Dr. H. H. Hogan was elected Chairman and C. H. Stoddard Secretary. Dr. Hogan stated that he must plead ignorance of what the meeting was called for and invited some one who knew to state its object.

B. F. Leete responded to the call and interested the meeting in an hour and a half speech, in which he gave an exceedingly interesting biographical sketch of his life from birth down to the present time, and during the narrative scored several telling points against the management of county against the management of county affairs in Washoe.

Mr. Leete and Commissioner Hymers crossed swords several times and called into service the dignity of the Chairman to keep order. As all good things come to an end, Mr. Leete's procedure to the rule. speech was no exception to the rule, and it wound up by his offering the following resolution:

Resolved, That it be the sense of this meeting that a committee of twenty free holders of Washoe county be appointed to look after the faithful administration of the county laws and county government.

At this point Mr. Beck took the floor and proceeded to a discussion of county affairs generally, during which he reminded his hearers that there were many irregularities indulged in by the County Commissioners in direct opposition to the laws and said that he favored Mr. Leete resolution. Mr. Baker asked what the committee was to be, a vigilantee committee, a tar bucket brigade or a committee of Mr. Leete answered the question by saying that it was to be a committee of respectable free holders whose duty it should be to see that no county offi-cer violated the law, and carefully guard the best interests of the people. Continuing, Mr. Baker said that he vas opposed to anything of the kind; that if our county officers committed a crime in the discharge of their official duties, it was the business of the Grand Jury to indict them and see that they were punished. He took occasion to question the sincerity of Mr. Beck and Mr. Leete, which called forth sharp retorts from those gentlemen, when the Chairman announced that if the speakers indulged in any more personalities he would vacate the chair.

The meeting finally adjourned without bloodshed, to meet again next Sat-urday evening at the same time and place. So Mr. Leete's resolution will be the first thing under discussion at the next meeting.

Regents Taking an Active Interest in the Institution.

Tne Board of Regents met Saturday, with Governor Colcord and Attorney-General Torreyson, the new members of the Board being present for the first time. Both gentlemen are showing considerable interest in the institution, and the GAZETTE will be mistaken if they are not influential and active members of the Board, and with minds broad enough to grasp every contingency that may arise, and it looks for the institution to be placed on a better footing than ever before. All Saturday was spent in examining the buildings, allowing the regular monthly bills, and selecting the site for the new labratory building as provided for in the Bell bill that passed the Legislature at the last session. a mansard roof. The building will cost preferred La Marsellaise cigars, sold between $4,000 and $5,000 and the Regents will advertise for bids as soon as the plans are completed. The Experiment Station grounds were looked over, but no action taken as the new members are anxious to know just what will be required to make the station a success before taking action. General Torreyson is a gentleman with college experience and Governor Col-cord is a man of good judgment and the GAZETTE hopes to see the influence of these gentlemen show in the management of the institution.

The great quantity of cathartic pills, etc., which are taken by the people of this country are productive of immensely more mischief than is generally suspected. Joy's Vegetable Sarsapartile was decimal.

Joy's Vegetable Sarsaparilla was designed to fill just such a contingency as the doctor's arraignment anticipates, viz.: instead of being a powerful mineral purgative, it is a mild vegetable laxative, that, owing to its solvent and gentle stimulating properties, is so certain a relief in constipation that it has been given away to hundreds, not to be paid for unless it was of positive benefit. It re places constipation almost immediately with a natural easy habit, and is so mild that unlike drastic purgatives, it can be taken indefinitely with perfect safety. A Michigan Central Railroad Employe Wins His Case After Seven Years Contest.

KING MORSE'S ISLAND.

The Strange Life of a Former Resident of San Francisco.

He Reigns Supreme Over the Island of Sophia in the Pacific Ocean, Which with His Tale He Has Purchased.

Amid all the trouble which is at present worrying the islanders of the south Pacific there is peace in plenty on one of the isles, says the San Francisco Chronicle. Chronicle. There guano flourishes in untold quantities; there are cocoanuts plentiful enough for armies of apes to play base-ball with, and the natives are absolutely friendly with one another, knowing not the hideous war-club. The little Eden referred to is known on every navigator's chart of the Pacific as Sophia island, and the modern Adam who holds sway in it is a former San Franciscan named J. H. Morse. He is rex, chief, lord, or whatever other title has passed to him with the island.

The isle is his by purchase, and his royal title, like many others, was obtained for money. When he bought the island King Morse discovered it to be absolutely bald. There were no people, no trees, no houses. But to the mind ambitious to do the thinking for a small nation these objections were very small ones and within the probability of removal.

So King Morse caused hairs to grow on the bald pate of his kingdom, and today he wields his scepter, of authority over quite a community of dusky subjects with the case and assurance of an exper! .lub-swinger.

A schooner recently arrived here from a trading voyage to the South seas, and from her commander, Captain Mollstad, quite an interesting account of the white chief and his black kingdom was received.

The location of Sophia island is considerably, farther south than either the Caroline or Gilbert group, and the nautical position is in latitude 10 degrees 45 minutes south, longitude 179 degrees 32 minutes east.

At one time it was peopled by quite a colony of natives, who were ruled by one of their tribe. The encroachments of the whites thinned them out, however, and a number of years ago the disgusted native chief went into insolv-ency for the benefit of his creditorsprincipally, however, for the benefit of imself. He disposed of his kingdom to some unknown person and his subjects swapped landlords. The new owner did not prove a pronounced success as a ruler, and this time, his second-hand subjects becoming disgusted, and, taking to their canoes, paddled away from Sophia to some friendly port in the Gilbert, group, where they could be well fed and well ruled at the same time.

Having nobody to rule and feeling the weight and worthlessness of his ocean estate, the boycotted owner looked bout for a good "buy."

It thus occurred that J. H. Morse hapened along in a trading schooner one lay and stopped at Sophia. After a good deal of bartering the tract changed hands a third time and fell into the pos session of Mr. Morse in consideration of the sum of five thousand dollars.

With a laudable view of producing a new and novel type of race to dis-tinguish his island from its many neighboring rivals, Mr. Morse induced a medley of whites, half-breeds, Samoans, and Gilbert islanders to take up their habitations in his colony, himself officiating from time to time as king, sheriff, elergyman, and employer.

barren spots in the island were covered with a growth of banana and cocoanut trees in great abundance, and the island has been subdivided into homesteads and plantations. Houses were built and are still being erected. form one of the chief profits of its commerce with trading vessels.

laws in his mind, and does all the planning, ordering, and executing. He does not fear a revolution or a German protectorate, for he owns exery foot of his territory. He is on the best of diplomatic terms with the chiefs of Bularlari, Taputeweal, and other islands of note, and is generally regarded as a power in South sea politics.

Mr. Morse, who is well known in this city, is a comparatively young man, and has for years been engaged in trading in the South Pacific. He is perfectly contented with his lot, and manifests no desire to mix again in the hurly-burly of the San Francisco world.

Captain Mollstall, who put into Sophia island to avoid dangerous gales on his way to this port, states that the little Eden is increasing its prosperity. The crops are good and the resources of the place are great, considering its size and population.

Reads Like Olden Times A touching incident occurred as an Swedish court the other day. A countrywoman asked and obtained an audi-ence of King Oscar, whom she told that she had tramped all the way to Stockholm from her dwelling in a remote part of the country in order to pray his Majesty to remit the remainder of a centence of seven years' penal servitude eassed upon her sister four years ago for having attempted to poison her (the applicant), in order to obtain possession of her watch and dresses, and from the effects of which she had only just recovered. King Oscar was greatly af-fected and promised the good woman that he would do all in his power to grant her prayer.

Settled by Science A recent microscopic study by Her schultz of the skin of toads and sale manders has yielded some interestin results. There are two kinds of gland results. There are two kinds of glands mucous and poison glands. The forme are numerous over the whole body while the latter are on the body and limbs, and there are groups in the earegion behind the eye, and in the sale mander at the angle of the jaw. The poison glands are, of course, protective and the corrosive inice is discharged differently in teads and salamander on stimulating electrically. In the latter it is spurted out in a fine jet, some times more than a foot in length; where as in the toad, after long action of the current, it exudes sparingly in drop there is no reason for supposing the the mucous glands become poisonous.

MALTESE NOT ITALIANS.

Pacts About the Population of One of England's Strongholds.

It is a common though utterly erroncous idea in England that the Maltese are Italians by race, and that thein language is a dialect of Italians, writes Sir George F. Bowen to the London Times. Sir Adriano Dingli, the present very able chief justice of Malta-a Maltese of the Maltese—has stated of-ficially as follows: "It must not be overlooked that both English and Italian are practically, for a vast majority of our population, as much foreign ongues as Arabic or Greek in England or Italy.' There is good authority for the belief that, at the present day, about twenty per cent. of the entire people can speak Italian, and about thirty per cent. can speak English, nearly sixty per cent. can speak only Maltese.

The fact is-and it is a very interesting fact-that the Maltese are mainly the last surviving remnant of the Carthaginian branch of the old Phoenician people. Malta was the half-way station between Carthage and Sicily, long held by the Carthaginians and of which Hamilcar, the father of Hannibal, was at one time governor. There is indeed a tradition that Hannibal himself was born in Malta. This famous and historic island was the chief stronghold in the Mediterranean of the Carthaginians of old. as it is now of the English. Here, and in the neighboring island of Gozo, there still remain extensive ruins of Carth aginian (or Phonician) temples, and an abundance of Carthaginian graves. Moreover, the base of the Maltese language is Carthaginian, i. e., Phœnician. In the comedy of the Latin poet Plautus, which is named "Pœnulus" ("The Little Carthaginian") a Carthaginian soldier makes a speech in his own language, which is stated by modern Maltese scholars to be as intelligible to them as much of Chaucer is intelligible to the English of the present time. During the long rule of the Saracens, who held Malta for more than two centuries, the old Carthaginian race and language were much mixed with the Arab blood and language; but both are kindred and Semitic races and tongues -allied also to Hebrew, and have no relation whatsoever with any European language. The subsequent introduction of Italian was due to the Knights of St. John of Jerusalem, most of whom were Italians, French or Spaniards. Italian was then (as it still remains tora large extent) the lingua france of the Mediterranean, and the grand masters used it in their official acts (when not published in Latin), and in their courts of law. It is still the language of the courts of law under the English rale, although it is the language neither of the English nor of the Maltese.

Robinson Crusoe's Island. The island of Juan Fernandez, once inhabited by Robinson Crusoe, is now tenanted by a former Austrian officer, Baron von Rodth, who, after being forced by the terrible wounds which he received at the battle of Sadowa in 1866 to leave the army, grew tired of the monotony of existence in civilized Europe and determined to devote his fortune to a life of adventure. For fifteen years past, says Harper's Weekly, he has been living on the island of Juan Fernandez with a small colony of natives and of European deserters from civilization and only communicating with the world once a year, when he sends his fine sailing yacht to Valparaiso for provisions and supplies.

Russian Landed Indebtedness. The latest report of the Agricultura Bank of Kiew gives a good idea of the indebtedness of Russian landed proprietors. In Volhynia alone thirty manors, with an aggregate area of 100,-000 acres, are about to come under the the number of manors to be sold is eighteen, and the total acreage 80,000. merce with trading vessels.

King Morse governs his small engine in all European Russia 9,000 land-own-with gentleness. He carries his code at a retire are to be sold at another properties are to be sold at another properties are to be sold at another properties. erties are to be sold at auction within a few months.
